

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE.

A hand stamp provided with a handle which is connected by a shaft to a positioning-frame forming housing for a stamp platen and moveable relative thereto for moving the stamp platen by a height-wise adjustable stem against the force of a spring from an idle position to a printing position, the handle being connected to the housing of the stamp platen by a flexible folding bellows and provided with a removable cap for allowing access to the adjustable stem, and a receptacle of the stamp impression member being releasably connected to the stamp platen by a snap-fit connection.

Attorney Docket 010475